Atlantic Ocean Crossed By The Waves Of Ether
From Nova Scotia To London.

AEROGRAMS RECEIVED AND SENT

Newspapers Take Messages From Space For Their Daily Publications--The Impossible Is Now Deemed A Reality.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Oct. 17.—Several newspapers today received dispatches from the Marconi wireless station at Glace Bay, N. S., and many persons sent congratulatory telegrams to Marconi.

It was on January 23, 1901, that Mr. Marconi established wireless communication between St. Catherine's on the Isle of Wight, and the Lizard in Cornwall, a distance of 183 miles, thus proving the principle of the non-interference of the curvature of the earth which had been anticipated by many scientific men who had investigated the newly discovered principle of wireless telegraphy. These results justified Mr. Marconi in recommending the erection of a high power station, with the object of telegraphing wirelessly across the Atlantic. Such a station was erected at Poldhu in Cornwall, and on December 12, 1901, the first clear and intelligible signals sent across the Atlantic were received from Poldhu at a temporary station located near St. John's, Newfoundland. In commemoration of this event an official complimentary luncheon was given Mr. Marconi by the then governor of Newfoundland, Sir Cavendish Boyle.

In July, August and September of 1902, Mr. Marconi, at the invitation of the Italian government, made a cruise in the warship "Carlo Alberto," and during the voyage carried out important tests in wireless telegraphy. During these experiments messages transmitted from Poldhu were received across land and water (1) nearly as far as Kronstadt in the Gulf of Finland, Russia, a distance of 1,500 miles, (2) at Gibraltar across the whole of Spain, over a distance of 1,000 miles, and (3) in the Mediterranean off the Coast of Corsica, over a distance of 1,000 miles although the whole of France and part of the Alps intervened between the two stations. Messages in nearly all positions and places visited by the cruiser were received either on Mr. Marconi's receiver, working a tape instrument, or by means of his magnetic receiver. The reports on these tests were signed by Admiral Lissolli, the present head of the Italian Navy.

As a result of the success of these tests, the Italian minister of marine, at the request of the King of Italy, issued orders that the "Carlo Alberto" should be placed at Mr. Marconi's disposal for the purpose of assisting him in the establishment of communication between Canada and England. On the 20th of October, 1902, the "Carlo Alberto" left Plymouth and sailed for Sydney, Nova Scotia, and messages were received from Poldhu throughout the voyage to Sydney, a distance of 2,000 miles.

After a few weeks' preliminary work at the station, which had, in pursuance of arrangements made between the Canadian government and Mr. Marconi, been erected at Glace Bay, Cape Breton, the following message was transmitted on December 14th, 1902, to the London "Times" by Dr. Parkin, its own special correspondent.

"Being present at transmission in Marconi's Canadian Station, have honor sent through 'Times' inventor's first wireless transatlantic message of greeting to England and Italy. (Signed) Parkin."

Mr. Marconi then proceeded to his other high power station, which had been erected at Cape Cod in Massachusetts, U. S. A., and early in January, 1903, sent the following complete wireless telegram across to Poldhu in Cornwall, England, from the President of the United States to His Majesty the King of England:

"To His Majesty King Edward VII. 'In taking advantage of the wonderful triumph of scientific research and ingenuity which has been achieved in perfecting the system of wireless telegraphy, I extend on behalf of the American people my most cordial greetings and good wishes for you and the people of the British Empire. (Signed) Theodore Roosevelt.'"

The following is a copy of King Edward's reply sent by cable:

"To the President, White House, Washington."

"I thank you most sincerely for the kind message I have just received from you through Signor Marconi's transatlantic wireless telegraphy. I sincerely reciprocate in the name of the British Empire, the cordial greetings and friendly sentiments expressed by you on behalf of the American nation, and I heartily wish you and your country every possible prosperity. (Signed) EDWARD R. I."

TRIO OF AFTON BOYS PAID COURT $26.95

For Assault on Fred Bergdoll of Janesville, Following a Dance Given About Three Weeks Ago.

Floyd Draffahl, James Riedley, and Roy Miller—a trio of strident youths from the more or less turbulent and tumultuous hamlet of Afton—appeared in municipal court this morning to enter a plea of "guilty" to a charge of assault and battery preferred by Fred G. Bergdoll, a local bartender, with the understanding that they should be allowed to make a statement of their side of the case before the punishment should be inflicted. About three weeks ago Bergdoll attended one of the notorious social hops given in the little village, in company with a lady friend. For some reason or other he took exception to Skelly's dancing with her and an exchange of compliments of the day not found in any well regulated lexicon followed. Subsequently Skelly and his gang sought out Mr. Bergdoll at the depot and in the fracas which ensued the Janesville man not only had one eye badly blackened by the impact of a fist, but was also struck above the bridge of the nose by a small sized bottle which somebody sent whizzing in his direction. The young man all denied knowledge of any stone-throwing tactics and set forth the claim that they were provoked to the onslaught by alleged lecherous actions and unpleasant language on the part of Bergdoll. It was shown that Miller, while numbered among those present, was not an active participant in the fray, and the court imposed on him only a small fine and costs amounting to $3.65. Draffahl and Skelly each paid $11.65. Bergdoll said that the trio seemed to have gathered the impression that he was from Helott and that the ominous suggestion—"Kill him!"—was freely passed during the progress of the festivities at the dance hall.

AUSTRIA CASTING ABOUT FOR EMPEROR'S SUCCESSOR

Some Fault Is Found With Every Available
Candidate Mentioned--War May Follow Francis Joseph's Death.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Vienna, Oct. 17.—The fear with which every earnest, thinking man of the empire has looked forward to the time when Emperor Francis Joseph shall pass away is rendered more acute each day by the bulletins issued from the sick room of the aged ruler. That the old Emperor cannot long survive is no longer denied in official circles. In vain" does the emperor wish to continue to exist in its present form, slung with all his heart: "Gott erhalte Franz den Kaiser!"

A successor competent to rule this uneasy conglomeration of quarreling nationalities is not in sight. With Crown Prince Rudolf's death ended the life of a man who, although abundantly supplied with the qualities of humanity, was nevertheless loved, and consoled by a large portion of the Austrian and Hungarian people. Had he lived, temperance might have come with mature years, and it is not impossible that he might have developed firmness and strength of character, which, aided by the love his subjects bore him, would have enabled him to dominate and rule them. By him, however, the wages of excess had to be paid early, and the Austria-Hungarian throne was left without direct successor.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, nephew of the Emperor, was selected as the heir-apparent, but he was frail, weakened and ailing, and only after long voyages and extended sojourns in Southern climates was his physical condition such as to warrant the hope that he would live to rule. But Cupid, ever fond of upsetting royal plans, played out of his royalish prank with Francis Ferdinand. The Archduke fell in love with the Countess Sophie Chotek, who was a maid of honor of the Crown Princess Stephanie, widow of the unfortunate Archduke Rudolf. When the heir to imperial honors was married to the simplest woman of his choice the question as to his succession to the throne became general. It was announced at the time that the Archduke had renounced all rights of succession for his children, should he be blessed with any by his morganatic marriage with the Countess. The first child of the couple was a daughter, born July 21, 1901. A year later a son was born and the popular discussion in regard to the succession was then renewed.

There are many people in the empire, and particularly in Hungary, who hold that he could not thus divest his children of rights derived from royal birth. So far as the Archduke himself is concerned, however, he has never given any reason to believe that he will violate the oath regarding his wife and his children, which he made at the time of his marriage. The arrangement at the time, it was understood, was that Francis Ferdinand would be succeeded on the throne, not by the male issue of his marriage with the Countess Chotek, but by the eldest boy of his brother Otto, the now nineteen-year-old Archduke Charles Francis, the first of the princes of the house of Hapsburg to be brought and educated in anything like accordance with the liberal ideas of today.

In order that the young Archduke might succeed to the throne it would be necessary for his father, the Archduke Otto, to abdicate in his favor. The latter, a man of fine appearance, has in recent years enjoyed a certain amount of popularity among the people—a popularity which for many years public disgust made impossible. Intriguing tales are told of the excesses indulged in by him and an officer comrade. Moderation seems to have come with years, however, and Archduke Otto has lately enjoyed a little more honorable public attention than he did in the past. There is a possibility that he might assume the imperial purple, but the belief is more general that he would waive his rights in favor of his son.

As matters now stand the succession to the throne is provided with perfect clearness, Francis Ferdinand, Otto and Charles Francis coming in the order named. But whoever of these comes to the throne, the outlook for the restoration of peace through his rule is not bright. Neither Francis Ferdinand nor Otto has been educated as the successful future ruler of Austria must be, and even young Charles, though some attempt has been made to give him a liberal education, has not received the broad training necessary for the task.

Such is the outlook for the future ruler of Austria. The venerable Emperor who is now believed to be on his death bed has been responsible for many of the troubles that have overtaken his kingdom, but his intentions have generally been good and his firm hand has held the shaft of nations together. Whether his successor will be able to do so well is a matter of such grave doubt that the passing of Francis Joseph is feared as a national crisis.

HAS F. AUGUSTUS HEINZE REACHED LIMIT OF PURSE?

Noted Copper Magnate Of Montana Said To Be Too Heavy With Copper Stock.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Oct. 17.—F. Augustus Heinze, president of the United Copper company, said today he is considering the question of resigning the presidency of the Mercantile National bank of this city. Otto Heinze & Co., brokers, made the announcement that the firm will permit itself to be temporarily suspended from the privileges of the stock exchange. Gross & Kleberg yesterday declared their failure was due to Heinze & Co. declining to take up stock purchased for them by Gross & Kleberg. F. Augustus Heinze declares he is not connected with the Otto Heinze & Co.

A decided drop in prices soon followed as a result of the heavy liquidation in copper and steel stocks. The low prices of yesterday were eclipsed by many representative stocks. The stocks made good recovery when it became known all the sheets had passed the clearing house successfully.

Suspension of Otto Heinze & Co. was announced on the stock exchange this afternoon. A dispatch from Butte, Mont., says the State Savings Bank has temporarily suspended. The bank, according to a recent statement, owed the depositors $1,622,000. The institution transacted a general banking business.

In Europe. Hamburg, Oct. 17.—The liabilities of Hüller, Seidel and company, the bankers whose failure was announced today, is estimated at from three to seven and a half millions.

VALVOLINE OIL COMPANY IS MAKING A BIG FIGHT

Want Equal Privileges With The Standard Oil Company Relative To Stop. Overs.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—The strenuous resistance being offered by the railroad companies to the demand of the Valvoline Oil company of Madison for the privilege of "stoppage in transit" for car shipments of oil in barrels is believed to be significant as indicating a friendly relationship between the railroads and the Standard Oil company. The independent company declared that it could not ship a car loaded with barreled oil to be unloaded at several places without paying the high rate charged for shipments of less than car lots, and that this rule of the railroads was a practical discrimination in favor of the Standard against the independents, because the Standard, having an extensive system of tank cars and local storage tanks, shipped in tank cars and not in carloads of barreled oil. The independents seldom sell a whole car of barreled oil and so they have to pay the high rates for less than car lots. The independent demands the right of stoppage in transit, but is willing to pay the freight on the whole car for the maximum distance any of the load is carried even though most of the barrels are unloaded at short-haul points. To this demand the railroads are making a determined resistance. In the hearing on this complaint, which is now in progress before the Wisconsin railroad rate commission, the witnesses for the company read extracts from the Garfield report to show the favors granted by the railroads to the Standard, but this report was declared by the railroad attorneys as unworthy of consideration, and William Ellis, attorney for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, declared that he had not read or consulted the report, as to do so would be a "pure waste of time."

DRY UP RAW SPOTS IN THE SKIN.

Read How You Can Eradicate Those Terrible Red Spots Which Itch and Torture You.

These raw and burning spots in the skin which make you scratch until you are almost mad with torture—they can be dried up and the skin will become as pure and white as ever by the use of the most simple external remedy known to medical science—a remedy made simple by the fact that its base ingredient is all of winter green. It is a liquid remedy used externally for Eczema, ring worm, burbor's itch and other diseases of the skin, sold under the name of D. D. D.
Prescription. This remedy instantly kills the germs that cause the itching and the instant you apply a few drops of the D. D. D. liquid to your itching skin the agony is gone—you are free from that itch, scalding, cooled, refreshed—soon the unsightly red spots with their nasty exudations begin to disappear.

Read this letter from Mrs. J. W.
Chouteau of Carrollton, Wash., one of many thousands we have:

"I am so thankful that a cure has been found for that terrible disease, Eczema. Our little boy was tormented with Eczema for two years. I sent for a sample of D. D. D. and it helped him wonderfully. After using three bottles he is well. I cannot say enough for D. D. D. Today the child's skin is smooth and clean and I shall recommend D. D. D. to every sufferer with skin disease."

While we have not sent the original copy of Mrs. Chouteau's letter, we are sure it is a genuine letter; for we know that the D. D. D. Co. is constantly getting hundreds and hundreds of letters of endorsement from those who have been cured by D. D. D. We know from people in our own town how wonderfully D. D. D. helps skin sufferers, and if you have any kind of skin trouble, let us give you our word that we will show you letters from those who have been cured, your own neighbors perhaps, letters giving important news to skin sufferers.

COULD FURNISH

POWER TO CITY

IMMENSE ELECTRICAL POWER WILL BE GENERATED BY THE

BIG DAM AT KILBOURN

Will Take Current to Madison—Could Reach Janesville as Early—Dam Half Completed.

When P. L. Spooner applied for a franchise in Janesville for an interurban road to run between Madison and Janesville six years ago he first planned to furnish the power for running this road from immense dams across the Wisconsin at Kilbourn and Sank City. A decision of the supreme court affecting franchises held by individuals blighted the hopes of the interurban project at that time, but Mr.
Spooner and others have since developed the idea of a dam at Kilbourn and next year will see current generated by the Wisconsin river transported to Madison to run the big motor there. It could be extended to Janesville and the intermediate stations and even be continued as far as Hollet and still retain its great power.

Other Projects

Since Mr. Spooner dropped out of the interurban project there have taken it up H. C. Clough and C. S.
Jacksman, W. G. Wheeler and the Hayes Brothers have held franchises but the road is not yet built. At the present time H. C. Clough, representing Ohio capitalists, has devoted much time to the situation and believes the road will be built next year.
Since the earlier franchises were ac-cured the state has changed the law relative to interurbans and now the railway commission passes upon the project and the people have a right to thoroughly discuss the benefits or damages of the project before it is granted a franchise to build. Power has always been one of the early objects of the proposed roads. Mr.
Spooner's company now claims to have solved the question.

Building Dam

At present there is being built at Kilbourn, Wis., a dam across the Wisconsin river just at the foot of the Dells, and the intention is to establish at this point a power plant able to produce all the current necessary to run an electric road to be built connecting Madison with the Dells region.

Two Power Plants

The company in asking the state and also the national government for permission to dam the river made promises that the main current would be run through a certain section, and when this promise was made a request was asked that a second dam be recommended, this to be built further down the river near Sank City, thus making possible two power plants separated about twenty-five miles by an air line yet over 150 miles separated as the river flows. These two plants would be able to produce power sufficient to run the lines from the entire central section of Wisconsin to Madison, supplying power, and light current for all the cities through which the line passes.

The Route

Just at the present time there is an argument as to which way the route should run. The original promise was that the main current should leave Kilbourn, go via Dells and Harbison to the Dells Lake region, then across the prairie to Sank and Prairie du Sac, and from there to Madison.
Then then people to the east and following the old original St. Paul railway company line have asked that they be given the main current and it was practically promised them, though Wednesday evening of the past week a meeting was held at Madison and the Harbison contingent declared themselves and stated that unless the main current followed the first planned the second dam would be stopped by federal interference, and from it looks as though the line will run as planned, by Dells Lake and Har-bison.

Great Engineering Feat

The dam at Kilbourn is well along and its construction is one of the large engineering feats in the middle west. The dam is being built in the Wisconsin river just at the point where the water is deepest and the river has great current. Already one-half the work is done and it is thought all will be completed this season, so that next year the work on the power house will be started, and the erection of substations will also be taken up, and all of next year's current will be distributed along the proposed electric railway line, though this cannot be built for at least two years.

Proposed Line

The line would be one of the greatest additions to the present electric system that could be imagined. It would make possible an excursion or outing trip from Chicago that could not be beaten. From Chicago the excursionists would be able to stop at any of the intermediate points between there and Rockford. From this city, when a road is built, the trip

To Stop Piles Try This.

Piles get instant relief when Dr. Shoop's Mile Ointment is applied. It's a Pile Cure, remember, and it is good for nothing else whatever except piles.

General Ointment for many uses, can't possibly cure piles. A pile ointment must be specific. Every aim of its maker must be directed specifically toward piles alone.

Says Dr. Shoop, "I make three valuable ointments, and yet, one only—Dr. Shoop's Mile Ointment—will bring relief to pile sufferers. Even when, in old chronic cases, General Ointment for a torpid Liver, with Bilelessness, I prescribe my Dr. Shoop's Restorative Internally while using Mile Ointment locally or externally. Keep in mind this fact, please, that the large blood vessels of the liver originate in the walls of the rectum, where piles arise. Obstruct these vessels in the rectum and pile instantly appear. Dr. Shoop's Restorative corrects stomach and liver sluggishness, hence its value as an aid to Mile Ointment in the treatment of obstinate cases of piles.
None genuine without Dr. Shoop's name on the package. Sold at 50 cents a box.

THE RUSK LYCEUM

Forum Falls to Present Subject for Debate to Rival Society.

The Forum Literary society has forfeited the first of the series of three debates for the year 1907-08 with the Rusk Lyceum. This unfortunate occurrence was the result of the Forum's refusal to hold in an acceptable topic to the Rusk Lyceum. This being in violation of their agreement to submit an acceptable subject, and being equivalent to a refusal to meet the Lyceum, of course forfeited the debate. This leaves the series one to nothing in favor of the Lyceum. The latter society will, it is expected, soon hold in a subject to the Forum, in accordance with their agreement, the Forum having chosen of address for this debate, which will be held February 11th. An admission will be charged for this right, the two literary societies being assisted by the Glee club and orchestra of the high school. The forfeiture of the first debate is to be regretted, as this event was looked forward to with great expectation.

The regulars of the H. S. were lined up against the Lyceum last night, and the advantage lay with the second
men. The high school regulars, according to their usual dash. However, they are expected to be in fine shape for the next game on Saturday.

Coach Hunsicker has secured a game with the strong team of Marquette Academy on October 26th. The game will be played in Milwaukee.
Although the academy team is much bigger and more experienced, the Janesville contingent are sanguine, and hope to win.

WILL REPLANT THE

DENUDED FORESTS

Fourteen Thousand Acres of Michigan
Peninsula to Grow White Pine.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Oct. 17.—Reforestation on the largest scale ever attempted by a private corporation in the Lake States has just been planned by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company, of Cleveland, Mich., which is to plant 14,000 acres of the Michigan peninsula with white pine and other suitable species of commercial trees. The company uses millions of feet of timber in development work each year and its officers have concluded that only through the wisest and most conservative forest management can they insure a sufficient supply for future needs. Experiments were begun by the company several years ago by planting in small nurseries, and the success met with has hastened the decision to begin forest extension on such a large scale.

The work to be carried on by this northwest corporation is of equal magnitude of the extensive planting preparations of the Pennsylvania Ry.
and the plans of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company in Pennsylvania and the Hixby Ranch in California.
With timber at its present value officers of the Michigan company reckon that in 50 years their plantation will give a profit of several dollars per thousand feet board measure. The rapid advance in the price of timber insures great financial returns from this large plantation.

The sandy glacial soils of the northwest part of the Lake States were once the home of vast forests of white pine and red pine. For many years these forests supplied the greater part of the lumber used in the United States and for export, but ruthless cutting and fires have depleted these forests, and now only thin plows flourish and grow 6,000,000 acres of sandy bar-ren wastes, covered with bushes and pine whorls.

A large proportion of this land is valuable for agriculture. Land companies have tried to boom it, and farms have been started but have soon been abandoned. The only crop this

ITALIANS QUIT WORK;

YESTERDAY WAS PAY DAY

Forty Laborers Quit at New Yards
Where Work Is Being Rushed

Taking the warm, balmy weather into consideration it would have been a crime to work today and the next, yesterday being pay day, is probably the thought entertained by about forty Italians who relinquished their positions at the business end of the pick and shovel this morning at the new Ashtabula yards. But the work goes on and it is the intention of the Superintendent Putnam to have the yards ready for use as early as possible, probably by the first of December.

NEW TOWNS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

AND NORTH DAKOTA ON THE

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R'y.

Over 100 miles of track have already been laid on the Pacific Coast extension of this railway in South Dakota and North Dakota. Several new towns have also been opened along this new line. Among them is Lemmon, Butte County, South Dakota, 100 miles west of the Missouri River.

The opening sale of lots in the new town of Holtmeyer, North Dakota, 25 miles further west, will be held Thursday, October 24, 1907. This new town will be the county seat of Adams County. All lots will be sold by auction.

The opening sale of lots in the new town of Bowman, North Dakota, 150 miles west of the Missouri River, will be held later. This new town will be the county seat of Bowman County.

Regular train service between Mo-bridge, the first station on the extension, and Lemmon, with direct connections from and to Aberdeen, South Dakota, was established October 6.

In each of these towns excellent opportunities are offered in mercantile or professional work. Why not engage in some business there now, and grow up with these towns?

The territory through which the new line is being built in South Dakota and North Dakota offers exceptional opportunities for those who wish to engage in diversified farming.

SERVE PRISON TERM

Harry Kimball, It Is Alleged, Could Not Endure Wife's Reproaches for Running with Other Women and Choked Her.

Harry Kimball of this city, who was arrested in Hollet a month ago on the charge of having deserted a wife and four children in Janesville to wait up on a certain Lino City woman and who was released only on the pleadings of his better half and his own good promises, is likely to get a taste of prison life. It appears that he did not keep his promise to quit the company of the Hollet woman and when he came from his work, Tuesday evening and had reached his home on First street, near the corner of North Bluff street, the wife reproached him for it. Wherever he is alleged to have tried to choke her and on complaint of neighbors an officer visited the scene and placed the man under arrest. He was to have been taken before Judge Rosa in Hollet some time today.

STILL ARGUING THE ## UMPIRE'S DECISION

Question of Giving Last Sunday's Game to Beloit May Result in Another Contest.

All the baseball fans of southern Wisconsin who could get to Edgerton yesterday were present to witness the game between the Janesville team and the so-called Edgerton team recruited from players of different parts of the country. The White Sox won by a score of five to four, but the "aggregation" made it interesting for them. Among the many fans present were the players of last Sunday's game at Yost's park when Umpire Mills gave the game to Beloit after calling a ball a foul which opinion appears to differ upon, and the refusal of the Janesville runner to return to second base as ordered by the Umpire. One argument led to another and the managements of the two clubs offered their services as intermediaries in settling the dispute.
They offered the grounds to the players and their services free of charge, the gate receipts to be divided among the players. With this in view the two teams are planning to line up on Sunday next just as they did last Sunday and play the game over again.
The score at the time the game was given to Beloit was 1 to 4 and eleven innings had been played. The players decided that the gate receipts should be divided sixty to the winner and forty to the loser and aside from this sum expected the interest in declaring last Sunday's contest will prove a big drawing card.

A Strike That Failed.

New York Commercial: As a closing feature of one of the most illad-vised and absurd strikes in the long history of labor unions the telegram of President Small of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union to all the local unions in the country was not a surprise; it was simply an additional absurdity. It simply advises the president's proposition to "call off" a strike that practically has no existence, for it had been a failure from the very moment of its declaration and long ago lost even the semblance of form or substance or organization.
Except that here and there a striker might be rebuked in his former position, a unanimous vote would hardly make any appreciable change in the present situation; that is, the great bulk of the outgoing men would still be without work and with little or no prospect of getting it; the general treasury is now depleted and the strikers are not receiving the "bene-

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.

It Had a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country conceived a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now with the fashion wave in wig, in general claim hair or baldness. Yet no one need have this hair nor be bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both.
Dandruff can not be cured by scrubbing the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed.
Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will.
Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ. Sold by lead-

sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, an hour's deliberation the jury trying the case of the City of Janesville vs.

George Bidwell, charged with stealing a city ordinance requiring a sign to be placed on the front of a building, found the defendant not guilty. The defendant's place of business is at West Milwaukee street. He claimed that he was at work in the vicinity of his home when certain individuals passed through a door leading not only into his place of business but into an anteroom and corridor used by other occupants of the building.

Did Not Live Alone: Through a mistake in taking a notice over the telephone it was stated yesterday that Elliot Graham, the Broadhead Every-man who died on Monday lived alone and that his body was found by neighbors. Mr. Graham had a family living in the house with him and his brother, J. F. Graham, and wife had been up with him most of the night preceding his death and had left him sleeping quietly but a short time before he was found dead.

legal procedure in the settlement of the estate of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Blodgett has been completed and an inheritance tax of $141 turned over to cent.

DRIVEN TO DRINK BY COMMISSARIAT

Jail Recruits From South Janesville Yards Tell Court They Are Illy Fed and Housed.

Yesterday was pay day at the C. & N. W. Ry. Co.'s new unloading yards and last evening about forty of the employees came to town to replenish their wardrobes and refresh the inner man. For three of them the aftermath was a hard board room in the city lockup. Fred Williams, the first spokesman in municipal court this morning spoke reproachfully of the commisariat and the other two added their "tangent" "amens." "You see, Judge," he said, "we couldn't stand the board. And there are no stores in the cars where we sleep and we've been half frozen to death for several nights past." Said James McKenna:
"They charge so much at the commissariat that we have to come to the city to buy our dry-goods. We didn't intend to take enough to over-balance us but a fellow can't always gauge his capacity when he hasn't had anything for a long time." Said Dan McGregor: "We came down to buy some clothes. Yesterday was pay day.
I don't know what I can get anything to what has already been said on the subject." Phew and costs amounting to $5.10 with the alternative of 5 days in the county jail were imposed on each of them and McKenna and Mc-Gregor were able to pay.

Mike McCarthy who has just completed a term in the battle for drinkedness, celebrated his first day of freedom yesterday by "bunking up" again. He was given a chance to pay $4.10 or spend six days more with Sheriff Fisher. As he was unable to produce the cash he will probably take the alternative.

Martin Gagen admitted that he was drunk and disorderly last evening and was taken down again after the police had started him in the direction of home. He did not have the ready cash to pay a fine and costs of $2.10, and the alternative is five days.

RESIGNS OFFICE OF JUSTICE OF PEACE

Charles W. Reeder to Be One of the Members of Notable New Law Firm in This City.

Charles W. Reeder has filed at the city hall his resignation of the office of justice of the peace which he has credibly administered for several years past, the same to take effect on November 1. He is about to enter into a partnership with one of the foremost attorneys in this section and the announcement will be made in the course of a few days. To fill the vacancy it would be necessary to hold a special election at an expense of about $150 to the city. It is not likely that anything will be done about the matter until the spring election. Meantime Justice S. D. Tallman is adding a commodious courtroom to his office further down the street.

Large House: Manager P. L. Myers reports a large advance sale of seats for "Firewater's Millions," which announces at his theatre this evening.

CAUTION

We warn the man or woman who has a comfortable account in the bank against drawing that money for questionable investment enterprises. The majority of people are not able to judge every offer of promoters. When you buy stocks or other securities from a stranger you are running a risk and besides you are paying a price that means good profit to the seller. Good bargains don't go begging.
On the other hand, your money in a sound bank is also safely safe, draws a stated and reasonable amount of interest, and you may add small or large sums from time to time or withdraw any part when ever necessary.

Our facilities for your convenience and service are unexcelled, and we are glad to be of any assistance at any time by way of consultation and advice.

DAUGHTER'S STORY
CHEERS MAGILLS

SHE PARRIES STATE'S EFFORTS TO SHAKE SUICIDE THEORY.

BIG HELP FOR DEFENSE

Incidents of Her Mother's Last Night
Related by Marguerite—Letters Put in Evidence.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 17.—Fred H. Magill saw his way out of the wilderness Wednesday. For the first time since the joint trial of himself and his young wife for the alleged murder of his first wife began the case took a turn which appears to make acquittal almost within grasp.

The guiding star out of the maze of doubt and suspicion which has clung to the Magills ever since the day of Mrs. Pet Magill's death last May was Marguerite, the 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Pet Magill and the former Clinton banker.

Letters Put in Evidence.

The girl was on the stand nearly all the afternoon, and when the state concluded its examination, unable to move her a jot, the defense placed in evidence the seven sealed, frayed letters found after Mrs. Magill's death, and claimed to have been written by her.

The state won in a sharp battle over the possession of these letters over night, and the attack on their genuineness will begin after Magill and his wife have testified.

Miss Magill was examined by former Judge G. K. Ingham, leading counsel for the defense. She first identified the letters as being in her mother's writing.

"What was your mother's health before her death?" asked Attorney Ingham.

"She had had headaches and stomach trouble. She often said she could hardly stand it."

"Did she ever have chloroform in the house?"

"Not that I know of."

Tells of Mother's Last Acts.

"What did you all do on the day before your mother died?"

"Mother asked me to bring Faye over at noon. Faye cooked dinner for us all. Then Faye and I went out in the back yard to wash our hair. Mother seemed cheerful. She talked to us from her room. In the afternoon she said she wanted to go riding, so we all drove to the cemetery."

"We got home about dark and mother and all of us sat down to a cold supper. In the middle of it mother got up and walked around the table. She put her arms round Faye's neck and kissed her and said: 'Faye, you know I love you. If anything happens to me to-night, I want you to take care of Marguerite.'"

"After Faye had gone home mother called on the phone and told her not to forget that promise. Mother and father went to bed at 11 o'clock. I heard them go down for beer. Mother called out and asked if she had kissed me, and just before I went to sleep father came in and kissed me. That is all I know until father woke me and told me mother was dead. I called Faye on the phone."

MARCONI STATION READY.

Opens for the Transmission of Transatlantic Business.

Gloucester, N. S., Oct. 17.—As already announced, the Marconi wireless station here and at Clifton, Ireland, will be opened for the transmission of transatlantic business Thursday. The first day will be occupied chiefly by the handling of press dispatches. These will consist, in a great part, of messages of a congratulatory nature exchanged between the press of New York and London and London and Montreal.

The first message outward will be from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of the Dominion of Canada, who will congratulate the English people upon the establishment of this new means of communication between Great Britain and Canada. The first westward message will be a press dispatch to New York.

Former Bank Teller Arrested.
Baltimore, Md., Oct. 17.—John J. Arizio, until about four months ago receiving teller of the Italian Savings bank of New York, is under arrest here. He was taken into custody on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $300 of the funds of the bank in November, 1906. Lack of this, however, is said to be a shortage estimated at $20,000.

Physician Accused of Arson.

Kirks, Pa., Oct. 17.—Dr. C. W. Hotchkiss, one of the most widely-known physicians in the county, was arrested in his home in East Springfield late Wednesday night on a charge of arson. He is accused of having burned his home and office to secure the insurance of $2,500 on the contents. He did not own the building.

Dockmen to Get More Pay.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—A special from Duluth says that the dockmen employed by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway were notified Wednesday that on November 1 their wages would be advanced 25 cents a day. The advance is made in accordance with a promise made before the strike last summer.

ACT ON DEEP WATERWAYS
ILLINOIS HOUSE AND SENATE ADOPT RESOLUTIONS.

One Proposes $20,000,000 Bond Issue for Project and Other Provides for Commission.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—The deep waterways subject was disposed of for the most part Wednesday when both house and senate adopted two joint resolutions, one providing for submission to the people in the general election next fall of a proposal for a constitutional amendment to follow a $20,000,000 bond issue for funds to proceed for the deep waterways work, and the other providing for a deep waterways commission to submit a report on the subject in time to inform the people so they may vote intelligently on the proposed amendment.

The house tabled the Chicago sanitary district bill, authorizing the drainage canal trustees to extend their jurisdiction of the drainage canal from Lockport to Lake Joliet. The house also authorized Senator Schmidt's bill, vesting the ownership of the water power of the drainage canal in the state.

The bill declaring the Desplaines and the Illinois rivers to be navigable streams probably will be passed by the house. After a bitter fight, it was amended Wednesday to prohibit any further dam work in either stream. This would stop work now in progress by the Economy Light & Power company in the Desplaines river.

WANTS LIABLERS HANGED.

Dr. Andrews Denounces Distortion of Acts of Public Men.

Washington, Oct. 17.—President E. Benjamin Andrews, of the University of Nebraska, in addressing the fall convention of George Washington University here Wednesday, bitterly denounced what he termed malice and willful misrepresentation of the acts of public or prominent men by the press. Hanging, he said, should be the punishment meted out to a proved liar. "None of the business villainies alleged to be so rife," he continued, "can compare in atrocity with those equally malicious and malicious caricatures which recent months have produced."

RUMOR OF MINE DISASTER.

Score of Men Are Reported Killed at Ellsworth, Pa.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 17.—An indefinite rumor has reached this city that an accident occurred late Wednesday night in one of the coal mines of the Ellsworth Coal company of Pittsburgh, located at Ellsworth, Pa., about 50 miles east of here.

It is known here that the officials of the Ellsworth company left this city for Monacaheon, Pa., where it is said, a special train was in waiting to convey them to the mines. One report, unconfirmed, says that a score of men have been killed and a large number injured by an explosion.

Quake Probably Under the Ocean.

New York, Oct. 17.—Inquiry among all of the cable companies Wednesday failed to disclose any interruption of communication in the two Americas due to the violent earthquake recorded. Those lines which run through the West Indies and Central and South America were reported as working smoothly, and the officials of the companies said that none of their lines or those of their connecting lines to the south had reported any earthquake disturbance. As the field thus covered embraces all of the West Indies, all of Central America and both coasts of South America, it is evident that the quake recorded by various seismographs did not occur at any largely populated region on the western hemisphere. It probably was an underocean disturbance.

COMMON SENSE

Leads most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrapper and advise its correctness under oath, are daily giving in favor. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the watch light of investigation turned fully upon his formula, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, tripe-rolled and chemically pure glycerine being used in stead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examine the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and hanc-oncoughs, which, if neglected or badly treated, lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and perseverance in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials. They are not given away to be experimented with but are sold by all dealers in medicines at reasonable prices.

PROMINENT FARMERS
GATHER FOR CONFAB

Agriculturists From All Parts of the Country Gather at Oklahoma City.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 17.—The most influential and representative body of farmers and others interested in agricultural pursuits ever held in this country convened here this morning with an attendance of nearly 2,000 delegates, half of them appointed by the governors of the various states and the remainder representing a score of associations whose interests are connected with the movement.

The occasion of the gathering is the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Farmers' National Congress. The congress will remain in session for one week. Addresses and papers will be presented by eminent thinkers on the subjects in which the agricultural community is most interested. Eminent speakers are among the scheduled speakers, Francis of Oklahoma, Chairman of Iowa and Governor of Florida. Other speakers will be Congressman Charles R. Davis of Minnesota, Professor W. B. Hart of Massachusetts, and F. A. Cotton, state superintendent of public instruction of Indiana.

One session of the congress will be devoted to the discussion of the important subject of co-operation. Women's interests in agricultural life will be discussed by two experts—Mrs. Katherine Stahl, chairman of the Illinois State Grange, and Miss Mary E. Roush, a graduate of the Domestic Economy department of the University of New York.

Some of the matters that will receive the attention of the congress are the protection of farm products, speculation, taxation, the extension of the rural free mail delivery, immigration, railroad rate reform, and the enforcement of the pure food laws.

BURNS' RELIC COMING TO UNITED STATES

First Mug the Famous Scotch Poet Ever Drank From Inherited by American Actor.

[Special to the Gazette.]
London, Oct. 17.—Admirers of Robert Burns have learned with regret that another relic of Robert Burns is to depart from British shores to America. R. G. Knowles, the American comedian, has purchased from the collection of the late Prof. Kirkcaldie, of the Edinburgh University, the famous Burns' mug, and will take it home with him to the United States. The mug was inherited by the late professor, and it is an authoritative fact that it was the favorite drinking vessel of the great Scotch poet. It is made of black wood, encircled with three brass bands, and has a wooden handle. The capacity of the cup is about a quart.

TWO NEW PLAYS FOR THE FOOTBALLISTS

Backfield Combinations Are to Be Formed to Rush Ball Forward.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—Wisconsin will use two different backfield combinations in the opening game of the season, with Illinois here a week from Saturday. The coaches have two sets of behind the line players and it is about a stand-off which is the better trio. In one is Osthoff at fullback, and Culver and Cunningham as halves. The only man who two weeks ago seemed fit for varsity work in the backfield was Osthoff, but the others have made remarkable development. It is understood that Coach Hutchins and McCarthy plan to use both sets in the opening game, because none of the men are heavy and as the game is being played fast and hard, it is probable that each set will last about one-half of the game. The loss of Dittman, who was severely injured in the knee while plunging over the line for a touchdown in the scrimmage of Wednesday, is a moving to the coaches, as he was counted on as important at the tackle position, particularly on account of his weight and experience. Earnest efforts are being put forth to perfect the forward pass plays, which are considered new under the new rules and in which the coaches have as yet not shown any efficiency or variation, to give promise of consistent success.

Drugs in Food.

"The gravy from roast beef is nearly as effective as any iron preparation in the relief of anaemia, and consequently also of the heart discomfort accompanying it." In addition, however, to red meat, many vegetables, it must be remembered, are able to contribute valuable proportions of iron to the dietary scheme. This is particularly true of the beet, yellow turnip, tomato and spinach.

Trees Furnish Water.

No one need die of thirst in Australia if eucalyptus trees are near. By cutting a sapling into sections of about ten feet and standing them perpendicularly with the small ends down, half a pint of water may be obtained in fifteen minutes.

Valley Forge, Pa., Oct. 17.—A large and distinguished delegation headed by Governor William T. Cobb and his staff attended the unveiling today of a memorial erected in honor of the Maine soldiers who wintered here with Washington during the War of the Revolution. President George E. Follens of the Maine Society of the Sons of the American Revolution presided at the unveiling exercises and Augustus F. Moulton delivered the principal oration. Governor Cobb made the speech of presentation to the Valley Forge commission.

Married
Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

GOOD WORK. Done Daily in Janesville. Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Don's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Janesville still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Mrs. Annie Kohlthoff, of 230 Cherry St., Janesville, Wis., says: "Since using Don's Kidney Pills some years ago for kidney troubles and backache, I have had no hesitation in recommending them to every sufferer I have met. I had used remedy after remedy and tried plasters and did everything I knew of for those complaints, but the trouble grew continually worse, and was fast undermining my general health. About 7 years ago I was in a very bad condition, and it was at that time that I learned of Don's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the People's Drug Co. and began using them. Good results followed quickly and a continued treatment brought me a complete cure. I have never had any kidney trouble since I used Don's Kidney Pills. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. ## CHAPTER XXIII.

IN the smoking compartment, which the three had to themselves, Hurd resumed his examination of Tray. They were now on their way to Liverpool street, and thence the detective intended to convey the boy to Pash's office, in Chancery Lane. Paul sat in one corner much excited over the turn events had taken. He began to think that the assassin of Aaron Norman would be found, after all. More, he believed that Sylvia would yet inherit the five thousand a year she was entitled to morally, if not legally. Hurd, in another corner, pulled Tray roughly toward him and shook his finger in the lad's face. "The boy was sulky and defiant, yet there was a trace of fear in his eyes, and the reason of this Hurd wished to learn."

"You're a young liar," said Hurd emphatically, "and not a clever one either. Do you think to play the fool with me?"

"I've told you all straight," grumbled Tray.

"No, you haven't. Any one can see that you've made a mistake. I leave it to Mr. Beecot yonder."

"I was about to draw your attention to the mistake," said Paul; "you mean the discrepancy in time."

Master Clump started and became more sulky than ever. He cast down his cunning eyes and shuffled with his feet while Hurd lectured him. "You know well enough," said the detective sharply, "that the brooch was found by you on the very evening when the murder took place. It was then that Mr. Beecot met with his accident. Therefore you could not have given the brooch to Mr. Pash the next morning, as it had been used on the previous night."

"She'll say anything," retorted Tray defiantly.

"Oh, won't you?" cried Hurd ironically. "We'll see about that. You told that he about the time to account for your knowing of the murder before any one else did."

"No," said Tray decidedly; "I did go to the shop in the morning."

"That you may have done, but not to sell the brooch. Mr. Pash had taken it from you on the previous night."

"He didn't," denied the boy.

"Then in that case you've told a lie. Pash never had the brooch and has nothing to do with the murder."

"He did sell the brooch from me, and he did kill the old eve."

"Well, we'll see what Mr. Pash will say when you accuse him," said Hurd, "but I don't believe one word of it. It's my opinion that you gave that brooch to a third party on the same evening as you stole it. Now, then, who did you give it to?"

"Mr. Pash," persisted Tray.

"On the same evening?"

There was no reply to this. Tray set his lips firmly and refused to speak. Hurd shook an admonitory finger again. "You can't play fast and loose with me, my lad," he said grimly. "If you didn't part with that brooch, you must be mixed up in the crime yourself. Perhaps you planned the poor wretch's death together. It's just the sort of cruel thing a young Cain like you would do."

"I didn't," said Master Clump doggedly. "You take me to master, and I'll tell him what I tell you. He's the one."

Hurd shook the boy to make him talk more, but Tray simply threw himself on the floor of the carriage and howled. The detective therefore picked him up and flung him into a corner. "You stop there, you little ruffian," he said, seriously annoyed at the boy's recalcitrance. "We'll speak again when we are in Mr. Pash's office," so Tray curled up on the cushion, looked naively at the detective and held his tongue.

"What do you think will be the end of all this?" asked Paul when Master Clump was thus disposed of.

"Lord knows," replied Hurd, wiping his face. "I never had a harder case to deal with. I thought I had a hand in it, but it seems he hadn't, and let us be, asking your pardon, Mr. Beecot, since you're his friend."

"That I am not," declared Beecot emphatically. "There's a young lawyer I know. Ford is his name. I went to see him as to what chances Sylvia had of getting the money. He was at school with me and remembered Hay. He said that Hay was dismissed from Torrington school for stealing."

"Didn't you know that yourself?"

"No, I had left the school. I was ill at home with scarlet fever. But Hay apparently always has been a bad lot. He and that Krill put me well matched, for I believe the mother is bad even if the daughter is a bit better by the way, her age?"

Hurd nodded. "I believe she was fifteen at the time of the death of Lady Rachel. If so, she can't be so legitimate or may not be the daughter of Aaron Norman. However, I've asked my sister to look up Mrs. Krill's past life in Stowley, where she comes from."

"But she wasn't married to Krill at Stowley?"

"No. But she lived there as Anne Tyler. From the certificate she was married to Krill at a small parish church twenty miles from Stowley, so Aurora will go there. But I want her to stop at Stowley first and learn all she can about Anne Tyler."

"Heedful's the name of the parish in which she was married to Krill before she came to Christchurch," said Paul meaningly. "So I expect they lived there. Miss Qian might search also for the certificate of Anne Tyler's birth."

"I told her to, and, failing that, she's to search in Christchurch. We must get the certificate of birth somehow."

"Hurd," said Paul, rather diffidently, "I hope you won't be annoyed, but I have already asked my friend Paul to give notice to Pash to produce the certificate."

"Well," replied the detective, "you might have told me. But no great harm is done. What does Pash say?"

"I don't know, Ford has not let me know yet. Here we are."

This remark was caused by the stopping of the train at Liverpool street station. A number of people were returning from their employment in the city to the country, and the platform was crowded. Hurd grasped Master Clump by the arm and marched him along. But in the confusion of finding his ticket at the barrier he happened to let go, almost without thinking. In a moment Tray had darted through the barrier and was lost in the crowd. Hurd sprang after him and left Paul to explain. He hurriedly did so and then went out to see if the detective had caught the boy.

Hurd was nowhere to be seen; neither was Tray. The crowd was increasing, and Beecot was at a loss what to do. After waiting for an hour without finding the pale he thought he would go to Pash's office. It might be that Hurd, having caught Tray, would take him there at once, leaving Beecot to follow. So Paul got on to the Metropolitan railway and alighted at the Temple station. Thence he walked up to the office in Chancery Lane.

"Where's Tray?" asked Paul of the one clerk in the outer room, who was writing for dear life.

"I don't know, sir," said the clerk. "He went out this morning and hasn't been back all day. Mr. Pash is very angry with him."

Apparently Hurd had not caught the boy yet or if he had did not intend to bring him to the office. "Can I see Mr. Pash?" asked Paul, thinking he might as well make some use of his time.

The clerk inquired if the solicitor would see Beecot and presently ushered him into the inner room, where Pash sat looking more like a monkey than ever. He did not appear at all pleased to see the young man and sucked in his cheek with a crabbed air.

"Well, Mr. Beecot, what can I do for you?" he snarled.

"You might be civil. In the first place," said Paul quietly, taking a chair. "You haven't behaved over well to Miss Norman and me."

"Oh," said Pash coolly, "have you come to reproach me with that?"

"I never waste time," rejoined Paul, "equally coolly. I'll leave you to your conclusions."

Pash shrugged his shoulders and put his feet on the rungs of his chair. "I think my conscience can stand that," he said. "It's business, Mr. Beecot, business. By the way, I have received a request from Mr. Ford of Chesapeake to produce the certificate of birth of Miss Krill. What is the meaning of that?"

"I think you know very well, Mr. Pash."

"I profess my ignorance," said Pash ironically, although he looked uneasy and was apparently lying.

"In that case you had better wait till you hear from Mr. Ford."

"Are you employing Mr. Ford, may I ask?"

Paul nodded. "On behalf of Miss Norman," said he coolly.

"Ah," sneered the monkey, "you think you'll get the money."

"Wait till you hear from Mr. Ford," retorted Paul again and enjoyed the bad expression on Mr. Pash's wrinkled face. "By the way, sir, why did you not tell Hurd that Tray gave you the opal brooch?"

Pash turned all the colors of the rainbow. "Does that hurt I look into my office out of charity dare to say that he did?"

"No does, and, what is more, Mr. Hurd is bringing him here to make the statement face to face with you. I am determined to get to the bottom of this case, sir, for Miss Norman's sake, and the possession of the brooch forms an important link."

"How so?"

"The person who had that brooch on the evening of the fifth of July murdered Norman," said Paul calmly.

Pash jumped up and chuckled like a baboon in a cage. "Do you mean to accuse me?" he demanded. "Take care! Take care!"

"I don't accuse you, Tray does."

"It's a lie—a lie!"

"Don't excite yourself, Mr. Pash. You'll need all your wits to convince Hurd. Tray accuses you, and Hurd suspects you. I have nothing to do with the matter."

"You put Hurd up to this!" foamed Pash, hardly able to speak.

"Hurd is working for the reward offered by your client. Don't you think it was rather foolish of her to offer such a large reward, Mr. Pash, even though she did so to avert suspicion?"

AUTO COMES NEAR GOING INTO RIVER

Geo. S. Parker's Touring Car, with Five Occupants, Hits Bridge Railing but Stops in Time.

What might have been as horrible an accident as has happened in Janesville for some time was barely averted at 2:20 this afternoon when Geo. S. Parker's Maxwell touring car struck the Milwaukee street bridge railing and came near plunging into the river with the five occupants. Mr. Parker was driving the car himself coming down Milwaukee street, going east, when he tried to get the machine out from between the car tracks. He turned the steering wheel suddenly to bring the auto over to the left but before he had reversed the steering gear the auto plunged from the street across the sidewalk and into the railing. As the possible fate of going into the river flashed across Mr. Parker's mind he shut off the engine and set the brakes. With the assistance of the railing, which acted as a timely obstruction to the machine, the auto was brought to a stop only after the front end had knocked out a railing post and torn off several boards. Besides Mr. Parker, Geo. F. Kimball and three ladies occupied the auto, the latter being nearly hysterically frightened by the accident. Practically no damage was done to the auto.

EXTRAORDINARY STOVE VALUES

We mean we will give you greater value, dollar for dollar, in Stoves than you can obtain elsewhere, whether you buy here at home or from an outside mail order concern.

The magnitude of our Stove Sales this year is the best proof of the truth of this assertion.

Now if you need a Stove, Base Burner, Range or Furnace, all we ask is for you to call during this great Anniversary Sale, look over the largest Stove Stock in southern Wisconsin, learn our prices, have the difference between Garland, Jewel, Quick-Meal and Hot Blast Stoves—the Stoves of national reputation—and cheap, ordinary ones explained, and we will be satisfied that you will decide our Stoves are the cheapest and best to buy too, because they are made to last, save fuel and give satisfaction.

If you buy a Stove that does not embody these qualifications, you will find it the most expensive investment you ever made regardless of what it may cost you.

Save pennies in cost and lose dollars in wasted fuel, repair bills, unsatisfactory service, and short life is the result of buying a poor Stove, because no other article of household use is subjected to such ravishing elements as fire, an no article requires such staunch, durable construction to give satisfaction.
